THE "F" COMPANY REUNION-ALMOST A SERIOUS DISASTER .- Yesterday morning the e union of the old and present members of Company took place at the pumphouse. At 12 o'clock the company paraded the streets with about forty men, rank and file. They presented a decidedly handsome appearance, and elfcited many favorable comments on their soldierly bearing and general demeanor. The company upon arriving at the foot of Seventh street embarked in one of the canal pleasure-boats, and were transported to the pump-house, where, after a brief resting spell, the soldier boys partook stick with intent to kill. The case was conof refreshments and a lunch.

The target-practice was for several prizes, and resulted as follows: First prize-Gold pin with pendant F (personal present by Sergeant Henry Taylor): Won by Private D. W. Fitchett, and presented to him by Captain Clarke. Responded to on the part of the victor by Colonel James R. Crenshaw. Second prize-A set of fine shirts (personal present from Lieutenant H. T. Miller): Won by Private E. R. Isbell. Responded to by Lieutenant G. D. Wise. Third prize-Silver medal (formerly won by Private S. B. Witt-now lieutenant in Company D-and returned by him to the company): Won by Sergeant Ira W. Blunt.

Presented by Private R. B. Berkeley. Responded to by Major A. R. Courtney. Fourth and last prize-Leather medal for the worst shot: Presented by Captain Clarke up to the authorities.

to Quartermaster Sergeaut R. D. Adams.

Bettie James (colored), guilty of trespass to Quartermaster Sergeaut R. D. Adams. Responded to by W. Leigh Burton, E-q. At the conclusion of the target-practice the old members and several invited guests having arrived, the party proceeded to discuss the merits of a magnificent Brunswick stew, prepared by Bob Richardson, the expert cook, and other palatable edibles &c. The veteran "F's" then had a chance to ernor Marye and other prominent gentlemen exercise their marksmanship, each one taking a shot at another target. The best shot gentlemen among them was Mr. Thomas J. Jackson; second best, Dr. C. W. P. Brock; third, R. Alonzo Brock.

At 8 o'clock the party reëmbarked on their return trip. When the boat reached the Tredegar Works, and was about turning the bend in the canal at that point, it collided with the freight-boat "Nannie, of Bremo Bluff," which was coming up the canal at the time. The up-coming boat struck the other near the stern with such force as to crush down the heavy top on the heads of the party. Then, of course, a scene of great excitement and confusion ensued. Several members of the company jumped into the canal. Many others were caught and pinned to the bottom of the boat in such a manner that they found it impossible to extricate themselves unnided. But for the presence of mind and energy of some the accident would have been attended with fatal results. As it was, many of the party were cut and bruised. Fortunately the boat was near the tow-parb, and those who first succeeded in getting out of the boat raised the top and extricated their more unfortunate companions. It was ascertained that Private George A. Haines had sustained the most serious irjuries. He had several bruises about the head and neck, and upon being taken from the boat fainted. He was conveyed to his residence, on Main street near Sixth, and Dr.

boats. Had the boat been further out in the canal it would in all probability bave been sunk, and many drowned, as they were could not move.
